Computer Science Department

Multimedia Applications and Virtual Reality

Master – Artificial Intelligence and Application

Continuous assessment – 20 min

Full Name : . . . . . .

Birthday : . . . . . .

Let consider a multimedia application for learning calculations for children allowing:

- Addition and subtraction of numbers.
- Entering data in text mode.
- Audio playback of entered data.
- Display of results in text mode, audio mode and illustrated visually.

Question:

Propose an architecture (the structural components) of the multimedia application and specify the information flow (data/decision) between the application stakeholders (Specify the dimensions and channels of each content)

Computer Science Department

Multimedia Applications and Virtual Reality

Master – Artificial Intelligence and Application

Continuous assessment – 20 min

Full Name : . . . . . .

Birthday : . . . . . .

Considering a multimedia language learning application for children that allows:

- Displaying objects.
- Audio display of the object name.
- Entering the object name in text mode.
- Reading the entered data.
- Correction of the entered name or congratulations if the name is correct.

Question:

Propose an architecture (the structural components) of the multimedia application and specify the information flow (data/decision) between the application stakeholders (Specify the dimensions and channels of each content)